Other reason not listed

he makes trouble with everyone in the house

How we can help you keep your animals?

my finacee's great aunt surrendered him to us but failed to mention certain traits of his. We thought that he may be angsty due to being in a new home and us having other female chihuahuas but that wasnt the case. He starts trouble with everyone in the house to the point of snipping at us. He doesnt like when we walk past him or if we put him away in a crate when we leave the house, he becomes aggressive with our females and of course they dont like him either. He can be very sweet at times, but then he kinda turns on you. We suspect that he hasnt been in the best care before, he seems to show aggression when he hears loud noises or if you make a sudden movement. We really think he would benefit being with someone who doesnt have more animals and can be his only human since the more people are around the more vocal he gets to be. I really just want him to go to his forever home and to live at peace, im saddened that it couldnt be with us. If he is adopted let his human know that he likes to sleep with soft music.

Admin notes

2/16/23- Called the owner and due to the behavior of the dog we would not be able to send it to rescue or put up for adoption so the appointment would be for a 300. I explained that to the owner. He said he would call back with his decision. I did make him aware that he needs to call us back with the decision due to i have already called and spoken with him. AM
