Reason for surrender

I was only supposed to help a lady out and foster them for a month and it's been 5. She refuses to take them back or to take any action to have them adopted. So now this responsibility has fallen on me. I was helping a woman and her child who couldn't afford him since she lost her job and is homeless, so I agreed to help by fostering them. It was only supposed to be a month, but has turned into almost 5 months and she can't take them back due to still being homeless and she has agreed to this. So she abandoned the with me. Unfortunately her cats and my other four cats do not get along. I can no longer take care of Bronze and Ozzy due to the strain on me and my other animals. They are about four years old and fixed. Because it is putting a strain on me and my cats. They are on a waiting list for animal control because I've tried everything else. They are a bonded pair but can be adopted separately. They are great with young children just not other animals. I have posted them and asked every foster I can and no one is helping.

My current living situation is...

I would rather not say.

I have read and understood the pet rehome statement.

yes

Just a few more questions...

How long have you had the animals?

4 months to 1 year

Reason(s) for concern - click all that apply.

- behavior
- cost of food
- cost of vet care
- conflict with others
- no longer want animal

Other reason not listed

I was fostering for a month to help a lady and her child out and she has abandoned them with me. They do not get along with my own cats and I can't afford to foster them anymore. No other foster groups will take them.

How we can help you keep your animals?

No options to keep them. They do not get along with my own cats. I tried to help by fostering them for a month which has turned into five or six months because the owner has abandoned them with me. Bronze is chipped and the original owner should be on the info on his chip.
