Just a few more questions...

How long have you had the animals?

5 + years

Reason(s) for concern - click all that apply.

- behavior
- moving

If moving, why can't pet(s) go?

Due to the aforementioned problematic behavior

How we can help you keep your animals?

I doubt that you can. He is very loved, but he has a fairly serious issue w/ marking. We have tried pheromone, removing our other cat from the home temporarily, specialized diet, as well as specialized litter. All of these things have ultimately failed to adequately address the issue. We also have attempted to rehome him. We did this first with friends and family, hoping that perhaps a different environment would help him. We also attempted to re-home him earlier this year via the no-kill network. I will provide a link to the listing below. We did receive a few inquiries, but no one offered to adopt him. I also have an impending move into a rental property at the end of this month, and I am very concerned about that, as I cannot take him with me. I look forward to hearing from someone very soon.

Admin notes

cat should be alone ... cat marks ... cat has scratched before ... cat may be best as a barn cat ??

Rescheduled from 12/29 to 2/22 because as a last ditch effort his family is trying to see if they can fix the cat. CH
