How long have you had the animals?

1 - 2 years

Reason(s) for concern - click all that apply.

- moving

Other reason not listed

Currently where I'm staying and where I am moving I am unfortunately not able to take her in.

If moving, why can't pet(s) go?

Renting a room, Landlord wont accept dogs.

How we can help you keep your animals?

I personally would feel more comfortable knowing Shes going to a safe and loving home where I can still be around to see her. My living situation is tough, and I truly don't want to surrender her unless it came to the point where I had to as my last option. She has saved my life when I got her being 18 years old getting her as a birthday gift because I never got to celebrate my birthday. Shes been on this journey with me where I went through things and she was the only one to be my strength, wisdom, and she is a cuddler. She loves attention and the couch. She has been around many different types of people and breeds. It does take time for her to warm up to a new home because she is used to moving around because I used to move around. Shes amazing at turning a frown upside down, Shes amazing with kids, extremely friendly. One family that was able to foster her from church has a kid with ADHD and she is so very patient, had zero problems when it came to the kids or families. She is such an amazing family friendly animal that has reunited families, and reunited hearts. I really pray that she finds an amazing home.
