How we can help you keep your animals?

I’m currently stationed in NJ, but am a resident of Florida. I am pending medical retirement before I can move back here in Florida. Unfortunately my Leasing Office have been warning me about how Victoria has been barking a lot and disturbing the neighbors. They asked me to remove the animal, before they have to move on with a hard decision with my lease. I planned on letting my parents keep her while I finish my service but, Victoria had shown signs of aggression towards my dad, and they have not been getting along. Till now, every men that she sees, she becomes anxious and aggressive. I am the only guy she has not shown any sorts of aggression to. From my observation, a female handler would be the best fit to have her. She is good with kids and women, as well as big or small dogs.
