ADDITIONAL COMMENTS ABOUT THE ANIMAL

This is one of several stray cats that I go feed. She, because I believe she is a girl, is missing her back left leg. She is black and white short hair domestic. She appears to have been another cat that old resident abandoned here. This is a abandoned resort that was once a residency as well. This cat is not like the other cats in the community that I feed. She is extremely sweet and approachable once she trust you. She appears to have anxiety a lot when she is itchy and can't scratch with her left back leg missing. I don't know for sure how long she has been abandoned here but from the guards and one old resident that comes to help feed them as well, she seems to have been abandoned here for quite some time. One of her ears is chipped so I assume she is fixed. This page is horrible for uploading pictures. Please send me an email address to email the pictures as there are other cats that show up there and appear to be healthy... may be someone's cats. Thank you
